Manufacturer: Auggiedog

Product Description: Auggiedog's product of the same name is an automatic pooper scooper that is lightweight, battery-operated and can be used at night thanks to an LED light, the manufacturer states, adding that it is great for those who have trouble bending down to pick up dog waste. The patented system can hold two to five pick-ups depending on the size of the animal; it comes with a one-year manufacturer's warranty; and it comes with its own self-cleaning station where it can be quickly cleaned and stored until the next use, the company adds.
