High-tech pooper-scooper

Conan would appreciate the segue. For dog owners who prefer the hands-off approach to cleaning up after their pet, the auggiedog automatic pooper-scooper does the honors without the need for plastic bags or stooping down to heed your dog's call of nature.

The adjustable and rechargeable Stool Tool picks up doggie poo for disposal in the garbage or toilet, and comes with a cleaning station and solution. There's even a built-in light for nighttime walks and a handle beeper for dog trainers.

Of course, at $129.99 the auggiedog probably should be the Swiss army knife of poop picker-uppers. The auggiedog is available for order at auggiedog.com.
